MATERNITY BLUES

REGIA DI FABRIZIO CATTANI

Maternity Blues (Il bene dal male)

Clara is a young woman who drowned her two children as an extreme consequence of a post-partum depression. After being admitted to a psychiatric hospital in Tuscany, she meets a community of women who have all faced the extreme act of infanticide. She becomes close to three roommates Eloisa, Rina and Vincenza, each with different personalities and complex fragility. While life in the institute runs between group therapy sessions, small crises and happy moments of celebration, outside Luigi, Clara's husband, slowly tries to rebuild a serene existence, realizing at the same time that he cannot stop loving the woman who gave him and then took away his children.
